Ludlow, He Declares*

*Welborn Clash With Chairman Walsh
Over Author of "Facts About Strike";
Corporation Head Charges Industrial Unrest in Colorado to "Lawless Element" Brought Into State by United Mine Workers*

DENVER, Dec. 7.—Constitutional guarantees were wiped out by Adjutant General Chase as head of the Colorado National guards, miners were robbed by the militia, that body was recruited with "scoundrels," and the right of search was exercised by the soldiers, while the civil courts were open, was the trend of the testimony of Prof. James H. Brewster, of the University of Colorado, attorney for the United Mine Workers before the congressional committee, testifying before the federal commission on industrial relations today.

Professor Brewster had been chairman of the State Federation of Labor committee that investigated the strike in December, 1912, on the authorization of Governor Ammons.

He declared that Lieut. K. E. (Monte) Lindelijett, in charge of the machine gun at the Ludlow battle, was a "brute, unfit to associate with anybody," and that, because of his brutality, the committee had asked that he be suspended on January, 20, 1914.

"Had he been suspended then," he declared, "Ludlow would never have happened."

He asserted Lindelijett had trained the gun on the Ludlow colony during a search by the militia for weapons and, putting the gun, declared he could not be the whole colony.

At that time Lindelijett was making meets outside Louis Tikas, who he said was recruited, breaking through a rifle over his head, he said.

"Chess Thinks He's a Soldier,"

"Adjutant General John Chase," he said, "thinks he is a soldier, thinks there is war and thinks that way because he cannot help it. He honestly believes he is a soldier."

Chase had enlarged the military district under the Moeroy decision, which he declared was a blot on the jurisdiction of Colorado, until it included the whole state anywhere, at any time, without civil procedure, he continued.

Louis Tikas, he declared, was a factor for peace in the Ludlow colony. He was a graduate of the University of Athens. He related the verdict of the court martial, at which Lindelijett was exonerated for the killing of Tikas.

"I am not attempting to justify the events that followed Ludlow," he said, "but if those Greeks had been Americans they would have risen long before."

Advised Men to Stick to Union.

He characterized the arrest of "Mother" Jones by the militia as one of the greatest outrages on American independence.

"One expression was given that she is going to the strike colony to advise the men to stick to the union," he declared. I, too, went to the colony and advised the men to stick to union as their only means of release from servitude. Afterward, she was charged with making profane and vulgar speeches. An exhibit of such speech made at the Trinidad strike convention is in the record of the congressional investigation. If anyone can characterize that speech I should say he were crazy."

He related the arrest of a woman who struck a militiaman because he loved her during a parade at Trinidad. It was necessary to incarcerate children with her that they be fed.

He declared merchants of Huertano and Los Animas counties had been inundated by the "company" with loss financial and social position.

How Juries Are "Fixed."

A glance of an attorney's eye was sufficient to "fix" a Mexican jury that decided accident cases, he declared, and narrated the case of a mine guard duty sheriff tried by a jury of seven eight brother deputies in Huertano and exonerated for breaking a man's jaw. This was in the "Kingdom of Jeff Farr," he said, and the guard deputy sheriff who walked in his left hand in his coat pocket a revolver was said to have been aulted by the miner, a boy of 17. He himself had seen a youth whose had been cut open by Lindelijett, cause one of Lindelijett's men had been his horse against a barbed wire in crossing the open prairie and at time Lindelijett behaved someone stretched barbed wire across the with malicious intent the boy was waiting at the Ludlow to take a train to Trinidad.

America Wholly Unprepared for War, Say Wotherspoon and Wood

MAJOR GENERAL WILLIAM W. WOTHERSPOON.

MAJOR GENERAL LEONARD WOOD.

That the United States is wholly unprepared for war and in fact has not more than ten tenths the number of soldiers needed for the regular army in case of war is the contention of Major General Leonard A. Wood, former chief of the general staff and now commander of the department on the east and W. W. Wotherspoon, present chief of the general staff. General Wood gave a foreign general a full band trooper in the United States somewhere between Boston and the Chesapeake bay. If the navy could not hold them off, General Wood's statement was made in an interview while the position of General Wotherspoon is contained in his annual report. He goes considerably farther than did Representative Gardner of Massachusetts in his recent speech in the house. GERMANS RENEW SIEGE IN WEST AFTER DEFEAT OF RUSSIANS IN POLAND

British Warships Again Bombard Enemy's Positions on the Coast of Belgium

Capture of Lodz Was Remarkable Achievement for Kaiser's Army. Which a Few Days Ago Had to Cut Its Way Out of Russian Trap: Petrograd Says Germans Lost 100,000 in Battle

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Oost Dunkerke, a village in West Flanders a little more than two miles to the west of Nieuport, has been bombarded by the Germans, which announcement in the latest official communication issued by the French war office would seem to indicate a renewal of the efforts of the invading forces to reach the channel ports.

Simultaneously there has been heavy firing along the Belgian coast from the warships of the allies, which are again bombarding the German positions and possibly may be attempting to check the supposed advance in the neighborhood of Nieuport.

The French also report advances by the allies in the department of Somme and the capture of the villages of Vervelles, between Bethune and Lens. Unofficial dispatches say the Germans have been obliged to utilize their light guns in the place of heavy artillery because of the flooded condition of the country.

The allies are now virtually in possession of the left bank of the Yser canal and in northern France particularly in the neighborhood of La Bassée where the Germans hold a very strong position, they are beginning with a heavy cannonade to feel their way eastward.

It is believed that so long as the strength of their army in the east, they will be unable to assume the offensive in the west to any marked degree.

GERMANS KEEP BEST MEN IN WEST TO STRIKE ALLIES

The same process is being followed.

ATLANTIC COAST IN GRIP OF TERRIFIC NORTHEAST STORM

Property Loss Will Be Great, but Death Toll So Far Is Low

N. Y. YORK, Dec. 7.—Huge seas broken by a mighty tide and a howling northeast gale battered the coasts of New York today, smashing houses, wrecking boats flooding villages destroying summer resorts and forcing transatlantic and coastwise steamers to remain outside Sandyhook and fight the storm.

At Sandyhook the wind attained a velocity of 68 miles an hour, driving in a record breaking tide and making it impossible for pilots to board incoming vessels. In New York harbor the tide was the highest in 13 years and the waves drove the New Jersey ferry boats to cover and stranded the shore of Staten Island with the wrecks of scores of small craft. In New York city, the wind blew at 40 miles an hour, diminishing to 26 miles tonight with a forecast of a shift in the gale attended by more rain or snow.

The worst damage in this vicinity was suffered at Coney Island where the loss within the past 24 hours is estimated at $200,000. Two or three fine houses at Seagate were wrecked despite the fight of a small army of workmen to build defenses with hundreds of sandbags. Fifteen buildings along Coney Island had been damaged tonight including big bathing pavilions and summer cottages.

At Brighton beach the board walk was demolished and the waves surged around the Brighton Beach hotel and wrecked several small buildings near it.

Waves 25 Feet Above Record

Waves broke more than 25 feet over the high tide line at Rockaway beach causing heavy damage to bungalows, etc. and the board walk. At Seaside eight bungalows were carried away. Two hotels at Seaside were damaged when Point Lookout at Long Beach was inundated and partly washed away.

The wind was blowing 40 miles an hour tonight over on the Jersey side heavy rain and high wind continued tonight. At Sandyhook enormous seas were breaking over the north and east shores outside the hook. The Russian liner Dwinsk from New Castle via Halifax lay anchored. The steamer St. Louis from Savannah was 15 miles off the Scotland lightship and had suffered damage and smashed windows.

The Franscien of the Wilson Line and several other vessels also lay out on the rollers of the Atlantic waiting for a moderation of the gale before daring to try to reach port.

For hours this afternoon commuters between New York and New Jersey had to travel through the Hudson river to cross the river to New Jersey.

PREPAREDNESS OF U.S. FOR WAR TO BE PROBED

Machinery Set in Motion in Congress for National Defense; President Wilson Approves Plan for Regular Inquiry, But Opposes Gardner's Proposition

FORBES-ROBERTSON'S COMPANY MAY HAVE STOCK SEASON HERE

Manager Percy Burton, in Love With Region, Has Plans for Summer in C. S.

Colorado Springs May Have as One of Its Stock Companies Next Summer

the Forbes-Robertson company which played here last week, with Miss Laura Cowie as the star. Percy Burton, general manager for the famous English actor, has been negotiating with the Opera house with this object in view and in all probability will bring the company back to play here from June to September.

Mr. Burton, who has been ill with bronchial pneumonia at Glencoe sanatorium during the last two weeks, left yesterday for Los Angeles, where he will join Forbes-Robertson. He expects to spend a few days resting at Coronado Beach the last of the week.

Charles Tutt and his brothers, who own the Opera house, are enthusiastic over the plan and have agreed to cooperate with Mr. Burton in his attempt to induce the company to return to this city next summer. Before leaving Colorado Springs Mr. Burton said,

"My entire company was no delighted with its visit here and the beautiful surroundings of the place, together with the inspiring air and English atmosphere, that I have little doubt they would most of them welcome the opportunity of spending a holiday in Colorado Springs.

Only yesterday I had a letter from our charming and talented leading lady, Miss Laura Cowie, saying, 'What a shame to be ill in such a beautiful place in that wonderful air!' And, of course, it will be my main object to endeavor to bring Miss Cowie back at the head of the company with which she has won golden encomiums as Forbes-Robertson's last leading lady in his triumphant farewell from east to west. Every critic of note in each city visited has prophesied for her an early stardom, and Colorado Springs could indeed count itself fortunate if this should be the start of her stellar career.

Plans, of course, would be a very important item and I should like to revive 'The Passing of the Third Floor Back' with perhaps Mr. Ian Robertson. Sir J. Forbes-Robertson's brother who has already played the title role with conspicuous success in many parts of the country, including Chicago. Another play I would like to present is Bernard Shaw's 'Arms and the Man,' which I think would be very appropriate at the present martial time, though the author's common sense does not always come to terms.

"That is all I think I can say for the present, save that I have the option on more than one recent New York and London success, but everything is at present in abeyance and on the knees of the gods."

of the senate and house, the chief of staff of the army, and an officer of the navy and heads of the army and navy war colleges. Such a board would be authorized to investigate conditions of national defense and make recommendations for improvement.

Senator Hitchcock had passed by the Senate without a vote a resolution calling upon the secretary of commerce for information as to the extent of exportation of arms and munitions of war from the United States to belligerent foreign nations or to Canada, existing contracts in this country for exportation of such materials and the normal condition of exports of such materials in time of peace. Later Senator Hitchcock introduced a bill which would prohibit the sale of munitions of war or materials for use in such munitions during existence of war except upon proof that they were not to be used against any country with which the United States was at peace.

Congress Reconvenes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Congress reconvened today after the fall recess. Members had reunions in the senate and house and after the introduction of bills and resolutions and passage of formal measures incident to the opening of a new session, both houses adjourned to await the delivery tomorrow of the president's annual message.

BULGARIAN GENERAL LEADING RUSSIANS

LONDON, Dec. 8.—(Tuesday).—A Russian force numbering 170,000, under command of the Bulgarian general Radko Dimitrieff, is reported to have arrived before Cracow and to have begun a bombardment of the suburbs to the southeast of the city, according to a Daily Mail dispatch from The Hague. The opposing Austrian forces have withdrawn into the Barlefeld pass, in the Carpathians.

30,000 PEOPLE STARVE TO DEATH IN ALBANIA AND PALESTINE, REPORT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Diseases need for food among the people of Albania and Palestine was reported by Ambassador Morgenthau to the state department today. In these countries, the report said, more than 300,000 people are facing famine and 30,000 already have died of starvation.

In other words, a tax of 10 cents has been placed on all marriage certificates issued by clergymen or officiating officials. This does not apply to the license issued from the county clerk's office, only those made out by the official performing the ceremony. No one seemed to know much about it until yesterday, no one had taken the trouble to look up the revenue measure's clause relative to marriage certificates. Hence, some one may find himself out a few dimes because of his willingness to aid Cupid.

Mr. Morgenthau's dispatch was sent immediately to the Red Cross society, which tonight issued an appeal for public subscriptions to finance relief measures.

The company announced the demands would be presented to the board of directors at its meeting here next month.

Thomas R. Robertson, representing the department of commerce, was present at the request of both parties. He asserted an investigation of the company's books showed that the company's profits represented 25 per cent on its investment.

tubes, as the ferries could not make their trips.

Wire communication between New York and Pennsylvania points was badly hampered tonight, the worst conditions existing between New York and Pittsburgh, Allentown, Pa., was reported almost isolated. Connecticut with Connecticut points also were crippled.

Philadelphia Storm Swept.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7.—The northeast storm which has been扫ing along the Atlantic coast since last Saturday continued tonight with unabated fury. In this city nearly three and a half inches of rain had fallen at midnight, while the reports from Atlantic City, Ocean City, Wildwood, Cape May, Rehoboth and outside points told of heavy damage by the wind and tide to ocean front properties.

Several fashionable suburban sections of this city were thrown into darkness tonight by the breaking of electric light wires. Ocean City, N.J., has been cut off from train and trolley communication. The railroads leading to seashore points were kept busy repairing the washed out crossings. Telephone and telegraph service to all points was fully crippled.

Shipping from this port was practically at a standstill.

Resorts Suffer Heavily.

REHOBOTH, Del., Dec. 7.—The northeast storm which raged from Saturday night until tonight caused many residents of all others had moved destroyed this seashore resort. The board walk was carried away from the end of the beach to the other together with all pavilions. Surf avenue, a thoroughfare that paralleled the ocean is a thing of the past. It was cut away by mountainous waves that swept over pilings built to protect it. The electric light and water plants were wrecked and several cottages were swept to sea. There were no casualties but the damage is estimated at $75,000.

Reports from Henlopen Lighthouse above were tonight very bad. It was in danger.

Double Rescue Effected.

POINT JUDITH, R. I., Dec. 7.—A double rescue was enacted in a 72-mile northeast gale today when the crew of the Point Judith life saving station who had snatched two shipwrecked men from death on the Point Judith breakwater were in turn rescued by the torpedo boat destroyer Morris.

In trying to make the harbor of refuge inside of the breakwater a little snugger, a boat brought up on the end of the wall and quickly went to pieces.

After a terrific struggle the surf boat of the life savers reached the men and got them aboard. Exhausted by their efforts the crew was unable to force the boat through the heavy seas to shore and all were saved by the destroyer Morris which by skillful seamanship dropped alongside the helpless surf boat.

Jersey Coast Pounded Hard.

STANHOPPE, N. J., Dec. 7.—Driven by a 60-mile gale from the northeast which had blown steadily for nearly 8 hours the waters of the Atlantic tonight were mounting along the Jersey coast. At Seaside at 11 a. m. today the waves broke over the bulk heads erected for protection after the storm of last Christmas.

Three cottages located on the beach had been washed away early tonight.

The citizens, located on the beach, had been washed away early tonight.

Resorts Suffer Heavily.

SEN. ROBINSON URGES PROBE OF GRAFT IN TROOP WITHDRAWAL

Would Investigate Report of Money Being Paid for Vera Cruz Evacuation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—An effort by Senator Robinson of Arkansas today to launch an investigation of a published report, that the Carranza government in Mexico had appropriated $75,000 to obtain the influence of two United States senators in bringing about the early withdrawal of American troops there at Vera Cruz, precipitated brief discussion in the senate but resulted in no action. Senator Stone, Gillingham, Pease and Smoot urged that the dignity of the senate would be lowered by its adoption and on objections of Senator Smoot the resolution went over for the day.

As drawn the resolution proposed an investigation by a special committee of five senators, empowered to travel to foreign countries if necessary. Senator Robinson said he had talked it over with several senators and decided to charge the foreign relations committee with the task. During the debate he agreed to the substitution of the lobby probe committee and the resolution was in this shape when Senator Smoot objected to further consideration, saying he hoped it would not be sent to any committee.

Bryan Points Out Contradictions. When the report was brought to the attention of Secretary Bryan, he said it contradicted itself by giving the impression that senators had been paid and then indicating that the entry on the Carranza books did not specify the use which was made of the money.

Incidentally, it was said by high officials that President Wilson had never even discussed the evacuation of Vera Cruz with any members of the senate. Rafael Subaran Capmany, Washington representative of Carranza, who was mentioned in the story as having received the money to influence senators, is and the following statement:

"The story is too ridiculous to merit serious consideration. It merely shows what length the Villistas will go to manufacture fabrications that they believe may be of assistance to them in this country."

TWO MORE WOUNDED ON MEXICAN BORDER

Citizens Ignore Request for Suggestions and Appeal Again for Aid

N.Y.O. Ariz., Dec. 7.—Two prospects for protection from the Mexican fire which has killed and wounded 49 persons on the American side here during the siege of Naco Sonora encouraged residents of Naco today. They were a remnant from the military commander for suggestions for better protection and an indication that the state department would take action.

The last of hope from the military source was extinguished at a mass meeting tonight called to formulate a reply. The citizens voted to ignore the request for suggestions in protective methods because the military request said criticisms of the administration or hostile methods were not desired. Instead the meeting decided to refer the appeal to the state department for action.

Two more soldiers of the border patrol were hit by the Mexican stray fire late last night and tonight making a total of 49, 17 of whom were American soldiers. The two are Sergeant Charles H. Smart, shot in the foot last night, and Private Patterson of the machine gun platoon, shot in the leg tonight. Both are of the Tenth United States Cavalry.

For two months the fire from the village in which Majorona's Villa troops are attacking the entrenched Carranza forces in Naco under General Hill, has caused the citizens to appeal to the state and national governments for protection. Governor George Hunt has made two requests of the state department for aid and last night a citizen's committee appealed to Arizona's two United States Senators, Henry T. Ashurst and Marcus A. Smith, and Senators Fall of New Mexico and Smith of Michigan for legislation closing the border ports.

Senator Ashurst replied today saying he had done all the requested action would be taken.

The request for suggestions came from Colonel Guiffroye of the Ninth United States cavalry commanding the border patrol.

SUPREME COURT SUSTAINS THE PLEA OF MAY B. OLES

DENVER, Dec. 7.—The state supreme court today sustained the petition of May B. Oles asking that the distribution of $100,000 of the late Andrew J. Mackey estate be postponed until she had received the one-third to which she claims the right.

The claim is made under a contract between Mackey and his father that Mackey should rear the girl as his own daughter and provide her with one-third his estate. In sustaining the petition the supreme court declared there is prima facie evidence that the plaintiff is entitled to the part of the estate claimed.

PORTO RICO ASKS LARGER VOICE IN ISLAND AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Governor Taft of Porto Rico today urged President Wilson to support at this session of congress the bill giving Porto Ricans a larger voice in their government, including the election of their senator. The president said he would be glad to get action on the bill if it did not interfere with the administration's legislative program.

PREPARENESS OF U.S. FOR WAR IS TO BE PROBED

While members discussed informally the legislative program for the final session of the sixty-third congress which will end March 4, next no definite plans were made for party conferences. There will not be considered until the president has been heard from. The message will be delivered personally by President Wilson before joint session in the chamber of the house at 12:30 o'clock, a joint resolution arranging for the session having been adopted before adjournment to date.

This evening Senator Keen and Representative Underwood, the majority floor leaders, conferred with the president at the White house. Mr. Wilson sent for them late in the day and (set them separately), reading to them the message which he will deliver tomorrow and discussing the legislation which he desires should be considered in addition to the appropriation measures, which necessarily will take up much time of the short session.

Underwood Approves Program

"There is nothing which the president has in mind," said Representative Underwood after leaving the White house, "with which I am not in accord and I see no reason why the program of legislation which he will suggest should not be carried out before adjournment. If there is one thing that every Democratic member of the house and I believe has his mind set against it, it is an extra session next year. I do not believe there will be year."

Discussing the legislative program, Mr. Underwood declared that there surely would be a vote on the Hobson resolution for submission to the states of a constitutional amendment for national prohibition. This has not been included in the projected plans of legislation that have been discussed since administration leaders returned to Washington.

"There will be a vote on the proposed constitutional amendment before adjournment," he declared, "and eventually a rule to pave the way for a vote on it will be brought out in the house."

WARSHIP AGROUND WAS THE KANSAS

Caught in Terrific Gale and Forced to Anchor Near the Shore

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7.—The warship which was believed to be in distress off Ocean City Md. undoubtedly was the United States battleship Kansas.

Reports received at the Philadelphia navy yard tonight from Captain Bryan, commander of the Kansas, which is lying inside the Delaware breakwater, stated that he had been obliged to anchor off Ocean City yesterday to protect his vessel from the storm. No other vessel was in that vicinity so far as he knew.

The ship's propellers were being lifted out of the water by the heavy seas. Captain Bryan said and were in danger of breaking or throwing the engines out of line. He reported that the Kansas was uninjured except for slight damage to several lifeboats and the superstructure.

The Kansas, which is returning from a six-months' cruise in Mexican waters, was in the thick of the storm all the way up the coast and when it became necessary to anchor the vessel was uninjured except for slight damage to several lifeboats and the superstructure.

The Kansas, which is returning from a six-months' cruise in Mexican waters, was in the thick of the storm all the way up the coast and when it became necessary to anchor the vessel was uninjured except for slight damage to several lifeboats and the superstructure.

The Kansas is a member of the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet and carries a crew of 800 officers and men.

Captain Bryan reported tonight that he would remain at anchor inside the Delaware breakwater until the weather moderated, when the vessel will sail for the Philadelphia navy yard.

INHERITANCE TAX CAN'T BE COLLECTED ON STOCK OF FOREIGN CONCERN

DENVER, Dec. 7.—Inheritance tax cannot be collected on stock of foreign corporations under a decision of the state supreme court today. In the case of the city and county of Denver versus the estate of Charles M. Hobbs, a part of the estate consists of stock in foreign corporations. The state inheritance tax department sought to collect on this part of the estate. The court held that the stock merely represented the property which is located and taxed in other states and collection of inheritance tax in Colorado would be double taxation.

BALTIMORE NAMES 'SELF-DENIAL' DAY

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7.—The city council in joint session today unanimously passed a joint resolution designating Tuesday, December 15, as "self-denial" day. Those who can afford to do so are asked to practice self-denial on that day and contribute the money thus saved to the community relief fund for the benefit of the city's poor. Mayor J. H. Preston afterward appointed a committee to solicit contributions to the fund from all city employees receiving more than $2 a day.

RUSSO-GERMAN RAIL LINE IS 300 MILES LONG

LONDON, Dec. 8 (Tuesday).—A Petrograd dispatch to the Morning Post says:

"While the situation around Lodz is not yet clear, it appears that both sides are establishing themselves in trenches which is not difficult, as the frost has been broken and the rainy weather sets in.

The great numbers of reinforcements which the Germans have brought up from the western front has led to continuous fighting on the eastern front. The battle line from East Prussia to Cracow is 100 miles long. Eleven German army corps are said to be around Lodz.

"Everywhere the situation is static, favor to the Russians. The bulk of the Russian troops is merely to hold this line. Meanwhile, on other sections of the front, mainly in East Prussia and at Cracow, the Russians are pushing toward vigorously.

"In East Prussia the most important feature is the siege of the fortress of Lötzen, which the Russians left unoccupied on their early days in East Prussia, thereby enabling the Germans later to turn the tables on the invaders.

"South of Cracow the Russians are advancing steadily while the move into Hungary progresses satisfactorily.

HOLDERS OF FIRST WATER DECRES CAN IRRIGATE AT ANY TIME OF YEAR

DENVER, Dec. 7.—Holders of first water decrees are entitled to water for irrigation at any time of the year they need it. This is the substance of a decision by the state supreme court today in the case of Charles W. Lamont, state engineer versus the Weld Reservoir company.

About five years ago the company brought a suit against Comstock at holders of first decrees asking it to establish an irrigation season under which arrangement reservoir companies could fill their reservoirs between October 1 and April 15. The lower court created such a seven month period from October 15 to April 15.

The supreme court reversed the finding of the lower court on the ground that holders of first decrees are entitled to water whenever they need it.

company for the selection of candidates.

"If Mr. Welborn believed a small part of what he says," said the witness, "he is the most unsophisticated business man I ever heard of."

He puts his business before his citizenship, his rights before society's rights, before any right," he declared. "As he said at the congressional investigation, it is his own business and he intends to run it in his own way. See what damage he has done."

Cause of Unrest.

Professor Brewster began his testimony after President J. F. Welborn of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company had concluded his testimony and had arranged to divulge the name of the writer of the company's publicity pamphlets and to submit all the telegrams received from the eastern directors of the company during the strike to the commission.

In conclusion Mr. Welborn related the shooting of Marshal Lee at Se. Gundo, on September 24, 1913, the day after the call of the strike, the killing of mine guards at La Veta and how physicians had been kept from going to the wounded men for two days.

Mine accidents could be charged to overhead expenses only if a national law was enacted, he said. Otherwise the extra burden would turn the local consumption field over to competitors from other states. The Colorado Fuel and Iron company carried no accident insurance, preferring to settle directly with claimants. The only reason for the unrest in Colorado was the introduction of a lawless element by the United Mine Workers of America, he said. Had the law been enforced and the militia used vigorously the strike would have ended quickly, he thought.

Welborn and Walsh Clash.

Welborn clashed with Chairman Walsh of the federal industrial relations commission this afternoon over the right claimed by the coal operator to withhold the name of the man who wrote "Facts Concerning the Struggle in Colorado for Industrial Freedom."

Mr. Welborn insisted upon assuming full responsibility for the pamphlet, said he had given his word that the author's identity would not be disclosed and finally asked for time to consult counsel as to the right of the commission to force him to give the information demanded.

The writer was engaged for the work on the promise that his name would not be used in connection with it, said Mr. Welborn, who had been called to the stand to resume his testimony in the "Colorado coal miners" strike investigation.

"My word is given upon it and I think the writer has some rights in the matter."

Walsh Demands Name.

Without going into the reason for the commission's request," said Mr. Walsh, "that is not proper reason, so far as the law is concerned for not giving the information."

"He was not responsible except for the detailed execution," protested Mr. Welborn "any more than a stenographer to whom I dictate a letter."

"If you decline to give the name, the commission will, of course, take such action as it deems best," warned Walsh.

"I do not decline," replied Welborn, "but I ask the right of consulting counsel. I consider this a very serious matter."

Previously Mr. Welborn said he had never heard until Mr. Walsh read it to him, of the statute of 1908, which forbids coal company employees from acting as judges of elections in "closed" camps.

Commissioner Weinstein took up Mr. Welborn's last report to the stockholders of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company.

Proof is Demanded.

"What proof is there for the statement that strikers have hidden their arms and ammunition instead of turning them over to the federal troops?" he asked.

"It was an open secret in the district," replied Welborn.

The witness was asked concerning the statement in the report that the strikers had agreed that the miners were preparing to attack the militia upon the withdrawal of the federal troops and that 4,000 men were ready to come in from another state, "What

MINERS MEET, BUT POSTPONE THE MAIN SESSION TILL TODAY

DENVER, Dec. 7.—As a result of the appointment of committee on credentials and rules, no business was transacted today at the opening session of the convention of District 10, United Mine Workers of America, called to consider the action of President Wilson in appointing a federal mediation commission to act in the Colorado coal strike. The convention adjourned to meet early tomorrow, and a subcommittee of the international executive board will present a report, drafting with the appointment of the federal commission and other matters which may properly be considered at this time according to the official call.

The report will be presented by Frank J. Hayes, International Vice-president and chairman of the subcommittee of the international executive board. At the opening of the convention today Mr. Hayes hinted that the report would be submitted to the convention in executive session and admonished the committee on credentials to exercise particular care with reference to organizing the convention. In acting upon this very important matter," he said, "we must be sure we are reporting to members of the United Mine Workers.

The annual election of officers in District 10 will also take place tomorrow. All members throughout the district will vote at their local offices. The visiting delegates who number about 250 will vote here. President John McLennan, who is a candidate for reelection, has no opposition.

TWO DOCTORS ARRESTED FOR DEATH OF GIRL

By F. R. W.

Raymond Hitchcock can't sing, can't dance, can't act very much, but he certainly can invariably locate the responsive funny chord in a person. So he devotes his entire time to amusing—telling good stories, he's a past master—springing original witticisms at unexpected and often inappropriate moments and getting away with them: making faces, being generally foolish—and never once thinks of the qualities usually considered necessary in the musical comedy comedian. From which it might be assumed that the crowd which packed the Opera House last night enjoyed itself. It did.

It seems almost foolish to add anything to what already has been said of Raymond Hitchcock, both in his present vehicle and his other late success, "The Red Widows." He is the same young fellow. His witty interpolations today are every bit as good as those of past days that have made thousands laugh until they cried, and they are just as new for he often causes a hearty laugh among those who happen to be on the stage with him during one of his fits. He talks his songs in the same screaming way and is called back half a dozen times. His "All Dressed Up and No Place to Go" is even funnier, if possible, than his former hits. His stories in marvels in the story-telling art, chiefly because of his wonderful control of his pace and his many inducing little pieces of business approaching the slapstick—are just as good.

"Beauty Shop" Mostly Hitchcock.

Really, Raymond Hitchcock is about all one could ask for in this particular type. And, is it, there goes but one of him?

Naturally, "The Beauty Shop" is nine-tenths Raymond Hitchcock, the remaining one tenth being imposed of all the many and varied virtues that go to make up a typical model of production. As a musical show it doesn't count. But then once aerton is entered on the star so much that one takes little note of the rest of the performance.

There are four very good dancers in "The Beauty Shop"—Marion Sunshine and Joseph Herbert, Jr. and Anna Orr and Earl Benham. And they are worked almost to death, taking the place of the chorus in most of the numbers. The dances following "My Tango Queen" by Miss Sunshine and Mr. Herbert, and "Twas in September" by Miss Orr and Mr. Benham, were especially good. Likewise, the duet and dance "Love's Hesitation" by Miss Christine Mangasurian and Mr. Herbert was pleasing.

Music Doesn't Amount to Much.

There are no voices in "The Beauty Shop" and, if there were, they probably would be drowned in bursts of laughter at the antics of Mr. Hitchcock. Nevertheless, "Come Along, Little Girl, Come Along," a mixed quartet, and "I Love All the Boys in the World," by Miss Sunshine, were good numbers. Of course Hitchcock's Saturday Afternoon on Broadway, "All Dressed Up and No Place to Go" and his duet with Miss Sunshine, "I Love You Just the Same," were scintillating. On the latter the couple was recalled so often that the comedian gave one of his best off-stage smiles in the way of showing his appreciation of the audience of the crowd.

In size the chorus sufficed though it wasn't a very good looking musical one. Its chief duty, however, was to create an impression of numbers and form a dim background for the comedian and his dancing stars; a duty which it could easily perform. The other minor matters of musical comedy didn't exist—weren't even necessary.

Supreme Court Refuses to Review Frank Case

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7.—Refusal of the supreme court today to grant a writ of error for review of the case of Leo M. Frank brought an announcement from Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey here that immediate steps would be taken to have a new date set for Frank's execution for the murder of 14-year-old Mary Phagan.

Mr. Rockefeller's already enjoyed the directors of the foundation in their discretion to utilize the principal of the income or both for the chartered purposes of the foundation, namely To promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world.

Supreme Court Refuses to Review Frank Case

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7.—Refusal of the supreme court today to grant a writ of error for review of the case of Leo M. Frank brought an announcement from Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey here that immediate steps would be taken to have a new date set for Frank's execution for the murder of 14-year-old Mary Phagan.

The solicitor general will appear before Superior Judge Benjamin H. Hill Wednesday and ask the court for a writ directing that Frank be produced for resentence. Judge Hill then is expected to set the time for bringing the prisoner into court.

Lawyers here familiar with the case said tonight they knew of no further legal efforts that will be made to save the murderer's life except in the end. Wednesday, the date set for Frank's execution, is expected to appear before Georgia and the state prison commissioners in framing the capital appropriation bill for the coming year.

Franklin was also to have been tried in a statutory offense against Carr's 10 year old daughter. Previous to his arrest, Franklin had a good reputation and had been superintendent of the Sunday schools of Leavenworth. He had a wife and five children, who were with him in the court room at the time of the shooting.

Carr walked quietly into the court room, and, advancing to a point a handbreadth from Franklin, began firing with an automatic pistol. Two bullets entered Franklin's body and a third bullet pierced the chest of Parsons, who fell dead. Franklin lived 16 minutes.

Carr surrendered to the sheriff. Parsons was a prominent rancher.

HUSHING IT UP

YESTERDAY the President told Representative Gardner, of Massachusetts, that he would oppose the Gardner resolution for an investigation of the country's defenses on the ground that it "might create very unfavorable international impressions." This, of course, was expected. It was announced in Washington several weeks ago that Mr. Wilson would take this position.

What are the "unfavorable international impressions" that would be created by a mere official inquiry into this subject, conducted by a committee of Congress? What business is it of any other nation's anyway? No other nation that makes a pretense of keeping itself in a state of preparedness is so stupid as to fall into a condition where such an inquiry is necessary. But if one of them should find itself in that predicament, imagine it refraining from an investigation through fear of offending some other nation!

Mr. Wilson probably is no more fanatical in his devotion to the peace-at-any-price propaganda than some of its other leaders, but his official position makes his influence decidedly more harmful. It was said of President Madison that he "could not be kicked into a fight," but our present executive seemingly is even more pacific. His abhorrence of war is so intense that the country is fast getting into a state where it could not even make a respectable effort to repel invasion.

For instance, the beginning of the present administration found the Navy in a state of high efficiency, but under the policy adhered to since then it is now admitted by all authorities to be utterly unprepared for war. It lacks 17,000 of the men necessary to man the ships, it lacks officers, ammunition and equipment, and new ships are not built fast enough to take the place of those that become antiquated.

The Gardner resolution proposes nothing more radical than a thorough investigation to learn just what is wrong with the Army and the Navy. The fact that something is radically wrong is well known; nor is it a secret to foreign powers. There is no doubt as to the strength of the public demand for such an inquiry, and if Mr. Wilson expects to overcome it he will have to give better reasons than the one contained in the statement issued at the White House yesterday. Incidentally, with only a remnant of a majority left of the Democrats in the House, he may not find it as easy to control the next Congress as it has been in the past.

AN ART EXHIBIT

THERE is scarcely any influence that makes for high ideals of personal and civic righteousness in a community equal to that of a number of prominent men and women who are themselves living embodiments of such ideals. And there is scarcely any influence that makes for high esthetic and cultural ideals equal to that of men and women who make the realization of such ideals their life work, and are active with others to make their aims the common property of the community.

Colorado Springs is unusually fortunate in the number of men and women living here whose lives and works make for such ideals. By their influence and example the life of the community is touched at innumerable points and quickened to greater achievement along almost every desirable line of development. The work done by our educators, by our philanthropists, and by the many who work for the beautification of the city and its surroundings, or for the improvement of civic and moral conditions all tends to lift the life of the city to a plane higher than that which prevails in the average community of the nation.

In the exhibition of landscape paintings by Mr. Leslie J. Skelton which is now being held in the College art gallery at Perkins Hall we have one of these influences which do so much for our city. Mr. Skelton's work has been received at the leading exhibitions of Europe with the greatest favor, and the Canadian government has honored him with the purchase of one of his finest pictures for the Royal Art Gallery of Canada.

The exhibition now being held in Perkins Hall should be seen by every citizen who believes in the development of this city along the best cultural lines. It is especially advantageous to the youth of our schools and college to have this opportunity to become acquainted with the work of one of America's leading landscape artists.

THE IRISH AND THE WAR

ONE of the notable bad guesses made by the Germans at the beginning of the war was the belief that Ireland would immediately rise in armed revolt. It was part and parcel of the belief that India would do the same thing, and that even Canada and Australia would proclaim their independence. But in the case of Ireland it was based on better reasoning, for, as everybody remembers, the country was actually on the verge of civil war.

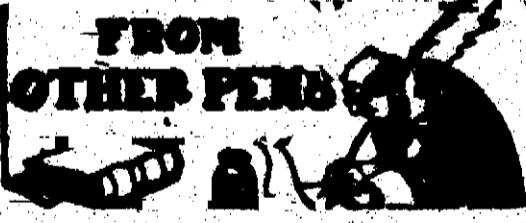

But the manner in which Ireland dropped its quarrel and came to the aid of the mother country is one of the extraordinary developments of the time. The Irish leaders in Parliament immediately announced that their followers would remain loyal, and now John E. Redmond is quoted as saying that at the end of November no less than 89,000 Irishmen were serving in the army. He adds that there are tens of thousands of Irish recruits who have joined the colors in England, Canada, Australia or other colonies, bringing the total up to about 140,000.

The British empire has been usually regarded as a loosely compacted unit which might fall apart under any unusual stress. Kipling's phrase, "Daughter am I in my mother's house, but mistress of my own," applies to Australia and New Zealand as well as to Canada. Each of the three countries is virtually independent, but each showed its loyalty during the Boer war by sending troops to South Africa, and each is doing the same thing now. There was more reason to suspect the loyalty of Ireland and India, but the Hindu troops and the Irish are fighting side by side in the trenches in France. Indeed, on the evidence of this war there is no more reason to suspect the disintegration of the British empire than that of the German empire itself.

RED CROSS SEALS

BEGINNING tomorrow 50,000 Red Cross Christmas seals will be placed on sale in Colorado Springs. Seventy-five per cent of all the money raised from the sale of these stamps is given to the Sunnyrest Sanatorium, a free local institution for tubercular cases. The remaining 25 per cent is divided between the American Red Cross and the Rocky Mountain Public Health association. Last year $5,500 was secured, the greater part of that sum going toward the support of the sanatorium.

Colorado Springs has done a great deal for the suffering Belgians. Considerably more than $5,000 in actual cash has been raised, and several thousand articles of clothing have been shipped by the relief leagues. Surely it is time for the people to show a little interest in home charities. Stamp all your mail with Red Cross seals. Each stamp means a cent and each cent means an addition to the Sunnyrest fund and an added chance for some penniless and homeless man or woman to rest and get well.

OUR POTENTIAL RESERVE ARMY.

The news from Washington that the war department is forming a reserve army of 150,000 in cooperation with military schools and organizations advocating the building up of a national defense machine is particularly gratifying at this time. While the European war has not been altogether responsible for this, since the field instruction campus for college and high school students last summer preceded the first shot on the continent, nevertheless the great war has contributed toward interesting the public much more actively in this subject, and there will undoubtedly be a general demand that congress support Secretary Garrison and the other army heads in this highly important project. Such an army of 150,000 men, to be composed chiefly of college, high and military school students, would probably not include the potential reserve of the veterans from the Spanish and Philippine wars and of the regular army service. In any event, by adding to the 190,000 men of our regular army (the actual enrollment now stands at 95,000) the total of close to 125,000 in the organized state militia, plus the 150,000 of the contemplated reserve corps, we should have at least a semitrained force ready for immediate call of 315,000 men, or more than nine times the present.

Admittedly every militia man or reserve could not respond to an instant summons. A good percentage of older men and married men in the state guards would not be available for a campaign. But on the other hand the personnel of the state guards changes approximately every three years; that is to say, the 16,000 enlistments in New York state represent some 40,000 men who have received militia training within a decade. Therefore the game of the hawks could be more than filled with men of equal training. On this basis the 125,000 militiamen in the United States represent a possible 400,000 of those who have been in the service, inadequate as it may be, within 10 years, or at least sufficient to raise the entire potential first line and reserve forces to 12 army corps, or 500,000 men, before one absolutely raw recruit need be accepted.

VODKA

From the Chicago Tribune: "No German or Austrian officer of the Russian military is contemptuous enough unless it has in the foreground a bottle of vodka." The Little Father in his cushioned ease and the vedette in the oven must have their sustaining swig of this colorless, ether smelling distillation which is virtually pure spirits.

The cartoons are slanderous. Russia, once drunkards, is now sober. It has been turned stateside by a beneficial exercise of absolute autocracy. Not since Mohammed had prohibition written into the Koran has one man made so large a territory and so many people dry by a pronouncement of authority as has the czar by a word.

Petrograd is the only capital in Christian civilization where alcohol is not sold. The state first renounced the huge revenue it received from the sale of intoxicants and then denounced the liquor traffic.

Russian soldiers go to this war sober. That has been commented upon as significant. They did not go sober against the Japanese. The officers became intoxicated to get the high lights of life, the peasant soldiers to forget the tragedy of their lives.

In the cold climates when frigidity makes monotony terrible, relaxation via intoxication is irresistibly attractive. A plodding, dull Russian without an interest in life which is not animal must turn to alcohol as to some divine source of higher happiness. Drunk, he is raised for a period out of the clay and made to feel that after all there might be a spark of divinity in his composition.

In the dreary villages of this sudden life the vodka shop was infinitely more attractive than even the American saloon in an American slum. It offered a period of exhilaration which might make a life of hard work reach at least briefly some peak.

The Russian government has recognized the controlling influences which led to this hard drinking and has endeavored to substitute other means of escape from animalism.

Northern climates will permit drinking not permitted in the south, but the Russian morale was sinking in the grain mashed out of which vodka was distilled and the Russian government exercised for good this time the absolutism which is its essence. All the vodka may not have been pressed out of the Russian army, but it is a sober army compared with any other that followed the icon for many years back.

WOMAN'S ACUMEN

Organization has enabled Americans to sell automobiles for half the European price, though the workmen get twice the European wage. Organization kept the German empire as busy during 40 years of peace as most nations are during war. But when war came the German emperor pushed a button, and 5,000,000 men started for France on the trot.

Organization also enables a few men with overhanging foreheads and small, brown-beamed consciences to buy a few small factories, capitalize them for $15,000,000 and sell the stock to the unsuspecting public. Organization in this case is more of a nuisance than a help.

A million voters may shriek in wrath and demand revenge when they discover that the city officials have been covering the steam radiators out of the city hall. But when it comes to the election a few quiet, businesslike men with a good organization, which includes plenty of election judges, can usually show a majority, thus enabling them to remain in power and buy more radiators to steal. This country will not advance toward perfection at a dizzy rate until politics is thoroughly disorganized.

On the Altar of Appearances

BY RUTH CAMERON

A woman in our town has developed an ingenious scheme for deceiving the neighbors as to the places where she trades.

She goes to some cheap store and makes her main purchases; she has them done up and carries them out herself; then she goes to a high-priced shop, makes some small purchase and asks to have it sent. "And, by the way," she suggests, "you might as well send these along too." Whereupon she hands over the purchases which she has made at the cheaper shop.

The result is, of course, that the delivery team from the expensive shop stops in front of her home, and the neighbors, who, presumably, are watching from behind their window draperies, do not know that she has been hunting for bargains.

The woman who told me about this scheme laughed. "Somehow I couldn't. It's almost too little and mean to laugh at. If I were a man I might laugh, but I'm too much ashamed of this trait in my sex to find it exactly humorous."

Putting aside the insouciance in asking a shop to deliver goods which were not purchased there, how staggering how insincere, how snobbish is this sordid attempt to appear better off than one is.

This is sad and disgusting, sometimes when you think of the happiness, the comfort, the common sense and the superiority that are sacrificed on the altar of appearance.

I know of a foreign buyer who makes quite a little on the side by buying labels from some of the expensive shops abroad and selling them to her acquaintances to sew into their hats and gowns. Needless to say, the label does not add one bit to the beauty or utility of the garment, but it makes it appear like something more expensive than it is. Consequently these women are willing to pay good money that might buy something of genuine value for those deceitful little scraps of cloth.

The Panama canal commission concealed the excellent plan of allowing its men as part of the pay, houses proportionate to their salary. The men were perfectly satisfied, but the women objected, strenuously. What chance did that give them to put up an appearance of being better off than they were?

Of course I do not claim that men are free from this trait, but I do not believe they are as bad as women. One can scarcely conceive a man resting the label of some expensive firm in his cheap hat. Perhaps, as women live the broader, freer life of the new feminism, this senseless sacrifice of simplicity and comfort and happiness to appearances will be one of the shocking follies they will lay aside.

P. H. Minot writing this, I heard a man say: "What's the use of having an expensive watch? It costs more to keep it in order and nobody knows it." Look at it if it costs $15 instead of $12."

Perhaps after all, sex is not so much worse in this matter than the other.

LESLIE J. SKELTON'S LANDSCAPES STUDIES OF BEAUTIFUL AND DELICATE COLOR EFFECTS

Exhibition in Perkins Hall Shows Work of Colorado Springs Artist at Its Best

By ANNE RISIER

After an interval of eight years Leslie J. Skelton is once more giving to the people of Colorado Springs the opportunity of seeing a collection of his landscapes hung upon the newly-decorated walls of the art gallery in Perkins hall.

The collection comprises some 125 pictures, the subjects of which are drawn from many different parts of the world, but dominating idea runs through them all namely, a desire to interpret certain delicate and harmonious effects of light and atmosphere. The subjects are very varied, being drawn from the seashore, the mountains, the plains and from picturesque villages, but the color schemes are almost without exception pleasing and harmonious. One feels, perhaps, that Mr. Skelton is most in sympathy with the broad expanses of beach and water, with the tender and atmospheric skies which overhang them. His mood is seldom touched by the intense dramatic or the sudden contrast, but one feels in most of the pictures his unusually keen sense of composition, of balance, and a very sincere and earnest desire to express the beauty of nature in her more gentle moods. Many pictures of brilliant accomplishments have not that sense of balance, which is one of Mr. Skelton's chief possessions, and which is such an aid in presenting one's ideas upon canvas in a clear and convincing manner.

The first group of paintings hanging on the east wall and comprising the numbers one to twelve, inclusive, is chiefly recent work done in Normandy, France, and includes two or three of the most beautiful pictures of the exhibition. The center picture No. 6 expresses successfully the idea of a great expanse of beach and water and is moreover a lovely harmony of color. In numbers one and eight it is interesting to note the same subject and composition seen under entirely different effects of light.

Many Scenes of Venice, — On the south wall is to be found first a group of pictures painted in Venice, a number of which have been shown in eastern and European exhibitions, all interpreting in varied ways that charming place so well-loved of artists.

MINISTERS TO PREACH ON "REAL MEANING OF XMAS"

Campaign Against Lavish and Useless

Gifts to Be Carried on in the

Pikes Peak Region

All the members of the El Paso County Ministerial Association will preach next Sunday morning on The Real Meaning of Christmas. The sermon will be the big feature of the ministers' campaign for a more simple Christmas. The association is urging people not to give lavish and useless gifts, but to make the day so far as the exchange of presents is concerned one of decided simplicity. In this way more money can be devoted to the needs of the city, it is pointed out. "The real meaning of Christmas has gotten entirely away from the people in the last ten years," one of the ministers said during the discussion. "Now the only thought of Christmas is a day when everyone can try to outdo everyone else in making lavish gifts. The real spirit is gone. We want to try to bring it back and keep it, there is nothing more beautiful."

CUT OUT MEDICINE

K. A. L. writes: "I am a victim of chronic indigestion. I have been taking digestive tablets. Do you think there is any danger in keeping this?"

REPLY.

I infer that you have got rid of most of the insects, if not all of them. I should say that you would be safe in using the flour.

When flour is riddled with them, it might not be safe. Certainly it would not be nice.

It is not an easy matter to get rid of flour weevils. The pantry and bins must be thoroughly cleaned. Two scalding water freely carbon sulphur, two pounds to each 1,000 cubic feet of air space, is recommended. This gas is inflammable. Cyanide gas is better, but it is too dangerous for general use.

Go to the public library and read up on subject in Herk's "Insects Injurious to the Household."

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered deatin with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish but care should be taken to see that you get real deatin.

REPLY.

I shall say that, since your indigestion is chronic, you are a victim of indigestive tablets.

Quite taking digestion medicine change your habits of eating and exercise.

1,472 AUTOMOBILES IN EL PASO COUNTY

115 Makes in Use, With Ford in Lead With 367; Many High-Priced Cars

Motor cars in use in El Paso county number 1,472, according to statistics compiled by County Clerk F. C. Sheldon from records of state automobile licenses issued to date during the present year. There are 115 makes in use, the Ford leading with 367, and the Buick being second with 181. The list shows a large number of the higher priced cars.

Motor taxes collected during 11 months of 1914 total $8,394, one-half of the net going to the county for the road fund. It is expected that December license will bring the total to $7,000, placing El Paso county second in the state in amount of motor taxes collected.

GULF BETWEEN CAPITAL AND LABOR, EVER WIDENING, IS CAUSE OF INDUSTRIAL UNREST

Federal Commission on Industrial Relations Submits Exhaustive Review of the Situation to Congress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Nine cardinal causes of industrial unrest, most generally agreed upon by employers and employees alike, were presented to Congress today by the commission on industrial relations in its preliminary report as follows:

Largely a world-wide movement arising from laudable desire for better living conditions. Advanced by representatives of labor, Socialists and employers and generally endorsed.

"A protest against low wages, long hours and improper working conditions in many industries. Advanced, by practically all labor representatives and assented to by many employers.

A desire on the part of the workers for a voice in the determination of conditions under which they labor, and a revolt against arbitrary treatment of individual workers and a suppression of organization. This was almost uniformly approved by labor witnesses.

Unemployment and the insecurity of employment. Generally advanced by witnesses from every standpoint.

Unjust distribution of the products of industry. Advanced by most labor representatives and agreed to by most employers.

Misunderstanding and prejudice advanced by employers and employees.

Exploitation of women and children in industry.

Promotion of violence by the use of gunmen, spies and provokers hired by employers.

Attempt to destroy unionism by the pretense of the open shop.

Monopolization of land and natural resources.

Suppression of free speech and right of peaceful assembly.

Collective Bargaining.

On the principle of collective bargaining, the investigators found virtually all witnesses with the exception of those representing the Industrial Workers of the World to be in accord.

As to any suggested method of application of that principle, however wide divergence of opinion was noted. In this connection the report adds:

"A majority of the best-informed witnesses who have appeared before the commission have insisted, however, upon the necessity of securing a proper basis upon which such collective bargaining can be carried out. It is impossible to analyze these suggestions at this time, but it may well be noted that practically all of the most experienced witnesses have insisted upon the necessity for strong organization of both employers and employees as a fundamental basis for the successful conduct of collective bargaining."

Criticisms of Trade Unions.

The report takes up in detail criticisms of existing trade unions, which it says come from employers and radicals who advocate other forms of labor organization. There are 16 detailed criticisms in this list with an additional list of seven specific objections to present labor union methods made by Industrial Workers of the World.

Paralleling these lists, 21 detailed criticisms of employers' organizations are presented coming from labor representatives. The labor men, however, were unanimous in favoring strong organizations by employers to further collective agreements with employees.

While virtually unanimous agreement of witnesses was found in favor of the formation of a federal commission of mediation and conciliation, the report points out that "practically every witness has expressed the strongest disapproval of any form of compulsory arbitration." Arbitration was suggested only as a last resort, and then to be purely voluntary. Witnesses agreed that mediators should be bipartisan, that they should have full power of investigation, that their contact with industry or industries with which they are expected to deal should be as nearly continuous as possible, that they should, if possible, act before a dispute has come to a head, and that adequate inducements should be offered to obtain the best possible men.

Employers Favor Canadian Act.

The testimony of a majority of the employers was in favor of a rule similar to that of the Canadian industrial standardization of wages.

Rapidly increasing complexity of industry.

Sudden transition of a large number of foreigners from repression to freedom, which makes them an easy prey to labor agitators.

Agitation by politicians and irresponsible agitators.

Unemployment.

"Unreasonable demands arising from strength of organization.

Labor leaders who stir up trouble to keep themselves in office and to graft on employers.

Inefficiency of workers, resulting in ever-increasing cost of living.

Rapidly increasing complexity of industry.

Sudden transition of a large number of foreigners from repression to freedom, which makes them an easy prey to labor agitators.

Universal craze to get rich quick.

Loss of old ideas of honesty and truth.

Too much organization for competitive purposes instead of for cooperation.

Violence in labor troubles.

Sympathetic strikes and jurisdictional disputes.

Boycotting and picketing.

Meddlesome and burdensome legislation.

The closed shop, which makes for labor monopoly. Financial irresponsibility of labor unions.

Employees' Side of Question.

A similar presentation of the employee side is as follows:

Normal and healthful wage for better living conditions.

Protest against low wages, long hours, unsanitary and dangerous conditions existing in many industries.

Demand for industrial democracy, and revolt against the suppression of organization.

Unemployment, and the insecurity which the wage earner feels at all times.

Unjust distribution of the product of industry. Exploitation of the many by the favored few. Demand for full share of production.

Unjust attitude of police and courts.

"There is one law for the rich, another for the poor.

Immigration and the consequent over-supply of labor.

Existence of a double standard, which sanctions only a poor living in return for the hardest manual labor, and at the same time luxury for persons who perform no useful service whatever.

Just earlier statement of individual capital on lack of machinery for producing same.

Control of big business over both industry and state.

BUILDING OF SUBMARINES FOR BELLIGERENTS BARRED

Schwab's Company Will Not Violate President Wilson's Neutrality Declaration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Wilson today expressed the opinion through a statement issued by Secretary Bryan that the building of submarines for any of the belligerents of the present war would be contrary to the spirit of neutrality of the United States.

The statement contained an announcement that the Bethlehem Steel corporation, of which Charles M. Schwab is president and which owns the Fore River Ship Building company, had deferred to the view of the president and did not intend to deliver any submarines to the belligerents during the present war. The question of whether it was legal for American firms to build submarines for shipment in peacetime has not been decided in the present case, the voluntary withdrawal of the Bethlehem Steel corporation from any intention to build them having left the matter still open.

High officials of the government think, however, that if the case went to the courts they could prove that the building of any great number of parts for a submarine is tantamount to "fitting" a warrant which is expressly prohibited by neutrality statutes of the United States.

Secretary Bryan said today he felt sure that the president's declaration would deter any ship builders from sending parts of submarines to Canada for shipment, as had been reported.

One of the physicians attached to this hospital said just given in the Municipal Medical Week, some of his observations. He found that mental disorders manifested themselves among the Alsatian population even during the period of mobilization when the terror of being arrested as a spy was ever present with many persons. Still greater have been the numbers of persons who lost their mental balance through the terrors of battle and especially through the long continued fatigue. Some of these patients showed something like hysteria and kept repeating in a dramatic way incidents that they had seen in battle.

The writer uses a special term "neurotic depression" to describe the effects upon a large number of patients who had seen continuous fighting. People suffering in this way could not rid themselves of the notion that they were still on the battlefield and often had the illusion that an enemy was slipping upon them from the rear.

The writer in the Medical Weekly found in the treatment of these cases of mental derangements that even after the state of hallucination had worn off, the patient usually remained highly nervous.

GERMANY PREPARED TO CARE FOR INSANE WHEN WAR BEGAN

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—The military medical authorities made preparations at the outbreak of the war for treating mental maladies caused by terrors of battle. It had been shown by the Russo-Japanese war that the effect of the long-drawn-out modern battle, with its terrible and incessant roar of artillery, was in a high degree unavoidable and the record of mental derangements caused by the battles in the far east opened a new chapter in the horrors of war.

In anticipation that similar results would attend the present war, the German authorities established at Strausberg a special hospital for the treatment of diseases of the mind caused by battle.

One of the physicians attached to this hospital said just given in the Municipal Medical Week, some of his observations. He found that mental disorders manifested themselves among the Alsatian population even during the period of mobilization when the terror of being arrested as a spy was ever present with many persons. WORLDNATIONAL MOGULS
SWEAR VENGEANCE
AGAINST THE FEDSMeeting Magnates Today to Be Gloomy; May Out-

NEW YORK Dec. 7.—If advance statements on what should be done in regard to what to expect from action will be taken by the national commission, the National League and the International League here this week with regard to methods adopted by Federal league promoters and the jumping of players to the new organization.

Without exception every club owner on his arrival here has had something to say concerning the Federals and the Federals not to be outdone have let it be known that a club may be placed in New York City next season.

August Herrmann, chairman of the National commission, characterized the signing by the Brooklyn Federals of Marquardt as a great mistake, adding however, that it was the New York club's loss and unless President Hempstead demanded action it was no commission affair.

Herrmann also stated that his negotiations with Charles H. Weeghman, relative to the purchase of the Chicago Cubs and incidentally peace between the old and new baseball organizations would be held before the national commission which is expected to meet today. The national commission chairman intimated that one of the defensive measures to be adopted would be a rule to bar from organized baseball players who are now or may in the future be identified with the Federal League.

Owner Dresev of the Pittsburgh team and his manager Fred Clark also had something to say about the Federals, the former declaring that he would not have a player on his team who had once deserted organized baseball for the outlaws. Other club owners expressed similar opinions indicating what is uppermost on the program at the National League meeting tomorrow. A change in the International League circuit will be the main topic of discussion when the club owners get together late today for their annual winter meeting.

International to
to Smaller Cities

NEW YORK Dec. 7.—President J. C. Barrow of the International baseball league indicated today that franchises of the Baltimore and Jersey City teams would be transferred to Richmond Va. and Syracuse, N. Y. respectively. The meeting of the league which opened today is not expected to be finished before the latter part of the week.

A shorter program schedule for the season of 1915 also will be strongly advocated by President Barrow who is very much in favor of deferring the opening of the season and closing earlier.

"A schedule of 140 games," said he, "to my mind will be adequate as 154 games make the season entirely too long."

All the National league magnates were entertained at dinner here tonight by President John K. Tener who was expected to arrive late tonight but too late to take part in a proposed session of the national commission. Garry Herrmann as chairman of the commission said they would meet tomorrow. The inference is that some drastic action in regard to the Federal League and general players who have deserted organized baseball will be recommended.

Charlie Doan, former player-manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, was seen here today. He said that he had given a 10 days notice to President Bassett Friday in order to abrogate his contract with the Philadelphia club.

He had not, he said, made any arrangements as to where he would play next season and denied that he had been negotiating with the Federal League.

"Wait until my 10 days notice takes effect," said he, "and then I can talk business in a business-like way."

Quinn's Services Now
That They Won Title

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7.—The Boston National league baseball club withdrew its suit for conspiracy in the case of Pitcher Quinn in the United States district court here today. The suit was for $25,000 and was instituted against the Federal League, the Baltimore Federal league club, James A. Morris, Edward Hanlon, Otto Kabe and John Picus, which is the real name of Quinn.

Counsel for the plaintiff stated in court that the Boston club realized it would be difficult to collect damages or the loss of Quinn inasmuch as with him the team had won the greatest possible honors in the baseball world.

100 BALLPLAYERS TO
BE JOBLESS IN 1915Toasers Cast Off by Fed. Will Have Hard Time
Getting Places

CHICAGO Dec. 7.—There will be close to 100 ballplayers without jobs before the season starts, according to a magnate with organized baseball affiliations. This was made known yesterday when it was reported that no one who has played with the Federal League will be recognized by its league clubs belonging to the National Association. This followed right on the heels of the hint thrown out at the annual meeting of the Federal League, that each club would probably carry only 25 men next year.

The Federal League magnates asserted that the players to be released will be taken care of, but organized baseball owners chorused: "Where?"

The minor leagues at the meeting at Omaha agreed not to sign any players released by the Federal league clubs, and the American and National leagues have intimated that they will adhere to the same policy. As there is no league of any consequence affiliated with the Federal, it will be either free lance ball or none at all, according to the opponents of the new league.

Minors Have Promised

It is recognized by baseball leaders everywhere that there are not enough good ballplayers to go around but despite this the minor leagues have promised not to pick up any castoffs from the Federals.

This phase was discussed behind closed doors at the meeting Saturday, but although many solutions were offered none was accepted officially. Preliminary plans were however laid to start one or two rival minor circuits. One minor league could take care of the superfluous talent, but it was questioned whether or not cities of sufficient size could be found to make the venture pay.

The scheme is to have the Federal League contribute a certain sum to each town in the proposed circuit and let the local and enthusiastic fans to the rest. This, of course, would put such a league on a more substantial basis than any of the minor organizations now in operation. Unless peace is declared, this will be the procedure of the Federals, according to one of the delegates to Saturday's conference.

Fifteen More Signed?

Even though every club in the Federal has more players than it can use, President Gilmore reported yesterday that the league has 35 stars from organized baseball clubs signed up to its new contracts. There is a bare possibility that at the names of these will be given out at once but President Gilmore said he would like to sign a few more before the list is finally published.

FOOTBALL SATURDAY
FOR MOVIES; TIGERS
WILL STAGE CONTESTIndian Actor to Be Hero in
"Flicker" Game; Public
Is Invited

Local people will have an opportunity Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to witness the taking of moving pictures when a football game, featuring the Colorado college Tigers will be played at Washburn field as a part of a dramatic photoplay entitled "The Greater Barrier" being produced by the Pikes Peak Film Company of this city. George Gebhart, portrayer of Indian parts who has been engaged as leading man in the local company, will play halfback at the football game. The football game will serve as an introduction to the story which is of a half-breed Indian who is seeking the distinction between him and the white man leaves college to go back to the old life on the reservation. The scenario was written by Merle J. Grindle, scenario editor.

Arrangements for the football game were completed yesterday and two full teams from the college will be seen in action. The event will prove interesting for the reason that many people never have witnessed the taking of moving pictures. The public is invited to watch the "movie" game.

George Gebhart who will play the leading role—that of the half-breed Indian—in "The Greater Barrier" has played many leads with practically every one of the larger moving picture companies in the business today. He was the first leading man to play a part for the Biograph company and is well known to every movie lover in the country.

Otis B. Thayer, managing director of the Pikes Peak Film Company has returned from New York City, where he secured a contract for a two-reel western drama to be produced by the local company every week. In addition to Mr. Gebhart, Madeline West, a famous character woman has been secured to play for the company here and the company has been augmented by several other new members whose ability has been proven.

"Bunk," Says Stagg of Football Writers' Dope

"Nobody Fit to Pick Any All-Star Elevens"

Famous Old Mentor of Chicago Maroons Says His Team Didn't Get Square Deal During Last Season

By ONE OF THEM.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—There is no reason living who is qualified to make a selection even of an All-Conference team, let alone an all-Western or all-American.

Thus are scores football critics throughout the country over put hors du combat by Prof. Amos Alonzo Stagg, coach and director of athletics at the University of Chicago. The cruel words might be called the "Acme" in an article written for the Daily Maroon the student paper at the university, by the gridiron wizard of the Midwest.

Most of It Bunk.

The article is written in defense of University of Chicago players whose reputations have been more or less dimmed in the public eye by these so-called critics, all of whom are absolutely incompetent of making such a selection. An All-Conference and All-Western eleven.

Professor Stagg does not mince words as he goes along further into the mysteries of all star teams. Hear the critics sizzle as he turns them on the spit over his rhetorical fire.

"In my opinion most of the football stuff that is written, just the same as about four-fifth of the baseball stuff, is largely 'bunk.' There is a decided need in the west for critics who know football thoroughly, who see the work of some of the players who are not carrying the ball, who view the whole game and not merely snatches of it while dictating or writing copy."

Hits 'Em All Alone.

Despite the fact that in certain parts Professor Stagg singles out critics in the west, he has no favorites and in the categories must come such gridiron wheel horses as Walter Camp, George Whitney and scores of others who during the autumn days ponder over the faults or strength of this or that worker in the football vineyard. This by burning much midnight oil by adding subtracting and digging out one leg up against the other and by other mysterious arts is evolved an eleven which is labeled All-Western or All-American as the case might be.

All this labor has been knocked gallantly west and then some. The critics themselves would not be content to pick the right men. Professor Alonzo Stagg admits this as he has stoutly refused to be drawn into any such contest. The coach says he writes to trouble enough to be the better men for their own teams to speak from others, as follows:

All of us who had had much experience know that it is only by close watching of their own candidates on the first days of practice that they can fully determine who are best qualified to fill the different positions, and to conclude that it is possible for any newspaper man who is busy creating his story to be able to do justice in the selection of an All-Conference or All-Western team for example after seeing some of the teams in action throughout the season is most preposterous."

Declines Task Himself.

If that should not disengage the hard-working critics, who for many years have been selling football gold bricks to the newspapers the following ought to be convincing.

Several times in the many years I have coached I have been asked to make a selection of an All-Conference and an All-Western team but patriotic Britishers though they are they are not likely to continue the practice all through next year. And at present the donation of time any money to sports especially golf, is being thrown upon all over Great Britain. Golfers around London are being severely criticized for playing their favorite game in these troublous times and this feeling is pretty sure to last as long as the war goes on.

So, in view of the conditions in their native land an exodus of the leading Scotch and English professionals to this country may well be expected. Vardon and Taylor discovered in 1913 that plenty of money could be made in the United States by playing exhibition matches and Vardon seems to have persuaded Braid to come with him next summer. The others are likely to follow in the open champion's footsteps, and the United States may look forward to seeing the best of Britain's golfers next year.

Among the lighter boxers the best buds in each division have been seen in action at San Francisco or Los Angeles during the last 10 years and the fact that no more championships will be decided in California for some years at least will be a source of regret among the host of boxing enthusiasts of the Pacific coast.

BOXING DIES NEXT

Fighters, Now Limits
Bouts to 4 Rounds

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Back in the early nineties, when James J. Corbett first stepped into prominence, California began to make pugilistic history and ever since that time the Golden State has been looked upon as a great center for the maintenance and encouragement ofistic sport. Many championship battles have been fought there and followers of the fortunes of pugilists in every class from heavy to bantams—evinced unusual interest when bouts were scheduled at San Francisco, Los Angeles or any other of the many places where glove fighters were decided and titles passed. Two generations ofistic champions have enjoyed the privilege afforded by the state of California and thousands of followers of the short have been well satisfied with the results. But all this is to be changed and the knights of the glove and squared circle will have to seek fresh fields outside of California.

"Home of Fighting Men." At the recent state election the majority of California voters decided that pugilism should not be accredited as a legal sport thus asking it mandatory for the boxes to settle their differences in a relative manner elsewhere. At midday of Tuesday December 15, taps will be sounded for the amateur bouts of four rounds duration in the principal Pacific coast state and after a rather prosperous quarter of a century pugilism will be taboo. In recent years the California promoters of this class of sport have given excellent inducements to the leading fighters of the world and as a result the best men in every class have at one time or another appeared there and several championship titles have been lost and won.

Several notable heavyweight contests have taken place in San Francisco since the memorable 61 round draw between James J. Corbett and Peter Jackson was fought in 1891. This served to bring Corbett into the lime-light and within 18 months afterwards the then young clerk had annexed the heavy weight honors by defeating John L. Sullivan somewhat unexpectedly at New Orleans in September, 1892. The young California was not considered serious as a possible contender by Sullivan's legion of admirers and the Pacific coast was elated when Corbett brought back the championship to his native state.

Many Big Bouts. Among the many bouts between big men decided in San Francisco in the last 10 years the following may be mentioned. Jeffries knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons in eight rounds. This served to bring Jeffries into the lime-light and within 18 months afterwards the then young clerk had annexed the heavy weight honors by defeating John L. Sullivan somewhat unexpectedly at New Orleans in September, 1892. The young California was not considered serious as a possible contender by Sullivan's legion of admirers and the Pacific coast was elated when Corbett brought back the championship to his native state.

The war can be set down as the reason why the British experts are likely to visit this country next summer. If the great conflict continues until then there will be little or no demand for the big exhibition bout which which such fighters as Vardon, Braid, Taylor, Dunn and Bay depend upon for their annual incomes.

Since the war began the big British professionals have played a number of matches the major portion of the proceeds of which was turned over to the relief fund but patriotic Britishers though they are they are not likely to continue the practice all through next year. And at present the donation of time any money to sports especially golf, is being thrown upon all over Great Britain. Golfers around London are being severely criticized for playing their favorite game in these troublous times and this feeling is pretty sure to last as long as the war goes on.

THE LATEST ALIBI. Gather round, fans! Here's a good one. Boulder lost the state championship this fall because students interfered with the athletes, says Coach Polson. Honest gang isn't it rich? To think that some of the broad shouldered athletes at U. C. had to study so hard that they couldn't do well at football. And then Polson passes the buck to Colorado college saying that students here are supposed to give most of their time to athletics.

You've got shamus! Boulder has the newest brand of an alibi.

NEW YORK MARKET

CHICAGO MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Announcements that the New York stock exchange will resume trading in stocks next Saturday on a basis more restrictive than that which has applied to bonds was the feature of interest in financial circles today. The list of stocks to be thus admitted embraces almost 200, including out of a total of the 665 listed on the exchange. It includes all the leading industrials with the exception of U. S. Steel, most of the railways not in the international class and a great variety of cheaper shares, those selling under $15 being free from all restrictions.

Bonds and stocks were again distinctly firm in the aggregate, dealing in the latter on the exchange being the largest, according to report since July 20. Some stocks not recently quoted were traded in today and in the main were above last week's high level. In the bond division the chief feature was the Rock Island group, which was increasingly active at further advances. The collateral, refunding and debenture issues of this property now are at marked advances over the midyear.

Southern Pacific contributions also contributed largely to the day's total, which was the largest since the resumption of bond sales. Other gains in bonds were limited largely to isolated issues, including International paper's. Declines, as usual, were pronounced, ranging from 2 to 8 points, the latter representing the loss in Gaudy Mining Co.

Among the principal stock gains were Lehigh Valley, Reading, Central Leather and American Red Sugar. In the later dealings stocks manifested a reactionary trend.

The market continued to waver, while call money touched the record low rate of 3 per cent. Marks were furnished the only feature of the foreign exchange market, their greater finances strengthening the belief that Germany was continuing her selling of our securities in this market.

RESTRICTED TRADING IN STOCKS WILL BE RESUMED SATURDAY

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Wheat turned back in the last 15 minutes today and a moderate advance which had been scored was more than wiped out. Disclosure of the fact that the market had become bare of speculative orders to buy was responsible for the setback. Prices finished weak at a shade to 14¢ under Saturday night's $10 Corn for 14½ to 15½ net, outgate, $10½ Corn to 14½ to 15½ net, ingate, $10½ to 14½ to 15½. Buyers of wheat appeared to have fully adjusted their wants and at the end of the day were for the time being more intent on realizing a profit than on making any additional investment. On the other hand, support from shorts was lacking as they had generally been forced to cover just previously on an unexpectedly substantial decrease in the domestic wheat crop. Total United States winter crop, both drought damaged, was found, had a tendency to diminish somewhat the volume of the falls.

Home Flavored Chocolates

We're so particular about the flavoring of our chocolates and bonbons that we put up fruit especially for that purpose. We don't buy unknown kinds, and we don't use extracts or preservatives. That's one of the reasons our chocolates are so unusually delicious.

It's time now to order your favorite varieties packed for Christmas. Remember that great day is not far off. The one gift that will always please on that occasion as well as on all others, is a box of Burgess Chocolates.

GENE AVOLLO, WITH THE AVOLLOS, PREMIER XYLOPHONISTS OF AMERICA, OPERA HOUSE VAUDEVILLE, DEC. 9-10

PRESS COMMENTS OF ARRIGO SERATO'S RECITAL

From the Boston Transcript, Monday, November 9, 1914.

... more Sunday in this town was full of music, as it bids fair to be well after week, until the spring weather and maybe satirize on either side of the footlights shoots the concert halls of the theaters that for the hour, on the first day of the week, have become such. So accepted a day for concerts has it become that even a violinist of wide and high reputation in Europe may choose it for his first appearance in America. So Mr. Serato appeared at the concert for the people yesterday afternoon, and justified the report that preceded him. He is a immature technician with his instrument, using his skill for well emphasized effect, when his music asks nothing else, and subordinating it to make that in its turn bids such subordination. His tone is warm, elastic and ingratiating. He plays with understanding taste as to its voice and understanding of his music and with distinct style. He has due sense of the rounding of phrase into phrase, of the justaining of a long and songful line.

He plays with just and sincere feelings. His hearers listened with pleasure yesterday.

"WHO SHOT BUD WALTON"

At the Empress today the feature will be the two-reel Reliance drama "Who Shot Bud Walton." This is a western mystery story with a novel ending. It is one of the best ever made by the famous Reliance Western company under the direct supervision of D. H. Griffith. Such famous screen stars as Eugene Pallette and Frances Huntington carry the leading roles.

It is a worth while production full of the thrills that delight and make the blood speed faster through your veins.

"The Creator of Hunger" is a single reel Reliance feature and is a comedy drama of unusual character, presented in novel character, with Boyd Marshall and Mayre Hall in the leading roles.

"The Amateur Detective," a laughable farce on Sherlock Holmes, is another comedy that will make the smiles chase each other across your countenance in quick succession.

"It's a Thankyou" with beautiful Muriel Ostrich in the title role.

"Getting Acquainted" is a Keystone comedy and it's useless to try to tell on how funny it is or how many laughs there are in it— suffice to say, it is one continuous laugh from beginning to end.

"THE YELLOW TICKET"

Next Monday evening, December 14, "The Yellow Ticket," a play by Michael Morton, dealing with life in modern Russia which is the latest production of A. H. Woods (producer of "Within the Law"). The new play which is in three acts is said to be the most intense and powerful drama on the subject of the present day status of the Jew in Russia, which has ever been written. It is indeed doubtful whether the subject has ever before been touched upon for dramatic purposes. Michael Morton, the author, has
